

domain name brainstorming sheet.

The best domain 'extention' is always .com if you can find a good .com domain then get it. it may be a few more bucks than another extention but they are really the best.

the best domain would be "your first and last name" .com so if you're bob jones. you'd want to get 'bobjones.com' this is so you can have a nice branded domain to yourself.

and you can use your domain and websites for tons of things not just this project.

things like: hosting pictures, or writing reviews, or journaling, or any number of different things!

if you can't get "your name" .com then search the other domain extentions maybe a .net or a .biz or whatever else your webhost / domain registrar supports.

IF you can't or don't want to get a domain that's related to your name then try to get something related to making money, working at home, working from home or sending emails. as that's what this program is all about it would be good to have a domain that is related to that.

ideas to help brainstorm domain names try using words like:

easy
secrets
videos
profit
hacks
turbo
team
money
email
tricks

you can also get ideas by doing things like going to the book store or video game store and just walking around and looking at titles that catch your attention.

the trick here is that you want to try and find something that's short and easy to spell, and if possible has something to do with the area of internet marketing that you want to cover. make sense?

here's some domain names i've registered or brainstormed in the past that kind of follow this methodology easytechvideos.com easyseotricks.com < not mine..but a friend's ezaffiliateprofit.com freewebtrafficsecrets.com clickbankhacks.com aweberhacks.com turbolistbuilding.com emailerswanted.com emailmoneyteam.com emailmoneytricks.com easyemailmoney.com

dont spend days figuring out a domain name (because you can always get a new domain name later and add it to your hosting!) just spend maybe 15-20 minutes brainstorming ideas
